Welcomes parents

A special eight-page supplement to the Eastern News

Dan Walker to kick-off celebration

By Micki Thomson
Governor Daniel Walker will arrive in Charleston shortly after 2 p.m. Sunday to help Eastern celebrate its Diamond Jubilee, according to Harry Read, assistant director of university relations.

Walker will deliver an address at the Convocation Program Sunday at 2:15 p.m. at Lincoln Field.

The topic of the address will be higher education and its obligation to the State of Illinois, Walker's advance-man told Read Tuesday. Whether or not there will be an actual text of the speech has not yet been decided, Read said.

Walker graduated from the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis in 1945. He is also a 1950 graduate from Northwestern University Law School.

Because Walker will be leaving Charleston immediately after the program to fulfill prior commitments, no reception or further activities have been planned for the governor.

The Convocation Program, after a luncheon program in the Union Ballroom,

The recipients of the awards are Aubert North, M. Alice Phillips, Fred E. Newman, A. Glen Hesler and Newton E. Tarble. All are past graduates from Eastern who have achieved success in their chosen fields.

Guests at the convocation include Cameron West, executive officer of the Board of Higher Education, Ben Morton, executive officer of the Board of Governors, the presidents of several Illinois universities and colleges, and the emeritus faculty from the first administration of the university, under Livingston C. Lord.

Dorms, Greeks plan special parent's events

By Susie Sebright

The residence halls and Greek houses have planned some activities to entertain the parents who are coming to participate in Parents Weekend.

"Jim Easter and the Artistics" will be featured at a dance Friday night sponsored by Andrews, Lawson, Taylor and Thomas residence halls.

Terry Webb, dorm counselor at Thomas Hall said that the dance will be held in the Thomas Hall and Andrews Hall food service and that the band will play songs which will appeal to both parents and students.

Thomas Hall, and the halls of the Triad-Weller, Ford, and McKinney.

Pam Good, coordinator of fraternities and sororities said that the Greek houses will be open for open house after the football game on Saturday.

"Parents are encouraged to come and see the houses of the fraternities and sororities located on Eastern's campus," said Good.

Each house will have an exhibit at the activities and organizations exhibit in Lantz Gym Saturday morning.

Eastern's starting point includes battle for site

By Cindy McKelfresh

To the parents of Eastern students: what do you know about the school your son and/or daughter attends?

Celebrating its 75th year of existence, Eastern offers an educational experience for many students.

But like anything, Eastern had to have a starting point. Eastern's road to the present began in 1895 when the state legislature established Eastern Illinois State Normal School.

Twelve eastern Illinois towns, Mattoon, Oakland, Paris, Kansas, Tuscola, Lawrenceville, Palestine, Danville, Shelbyville, Effingham, Olney and Charleston sought to be chosen as the site for the school.

Charles H. Coleman (for whom Coleman Hall is named) tells in his "golden anniversary history" titled "Eastern Illinois State College: Fifty Years of Public Service" that competition arose between the dozen cities submitting bids for the school.

Although many stories are told about the fight for the location, Coleman says that the major battle occurred between Mattoon and Charleston.

Coleman's ideas reveal that Mattoon had advantages over Charleston with a railroad from all four directions, a larger community and a state senator in Governor Atgeld's party.

Charleston and Mattoon then tried to settle the competition—Charleston would assist Mattoon with winning the school if Mattoon supported Charleston's goal of a new courthouse and the continued site of the Coles County seat.

The "deal" between the two cities never came about and Coleman says that both Mattoon and Charleston sought the county seat as well as the college.

The battle was underway!

Charleston must have made an impression on the six man Board of Trustees that was established with the school of high learning since it was awarded the location on September 5, 1895.

Thus, the future Eastern Illinois University started with Eastern Illinois State Normal School.

Tell The Truth And Don't Be Afraid

'Ego trip' denied by Davenport

By Mike Walters

Diamond Jubilee Boycott organizer Tom Davenport denied Thursday charges by Student Body President Don Vogel that the boycott is a "personal ego trip" and a publicity stunt.

"I'm sincere in my efforts and I believe that those who are helping me are also sincere," Davenport said.

Vogel said Wednesday, "I think he's on a personal ego trip myself. . . my personal opinion is Davenport's pulling off a personal boycott to get his name in the paper."

Davenport charged Thursday that Vogel, who also serves as a student representative on the jubilee committee, is an "administrative hack."

"He takes criticism of the Diamond Jubilee as a personal attack," Davenport said.

Vogel declined to comment on Davenport's charge Thursday, saying only "That's just his personal opinion, I guess."

Davenport also said he thought former Student Body President Mike Goetz and Vogel ignored their duties to the students by not informing them last winter where the $27,000 Lakeside Campus fund might be transferred to.

Vogel admitted Wednesday that he, as University Board President at the time, and Goetz knew last winter that the money for the jubilee would be transferred from the Lakeside Campus Fund.

Both Goetz and Vogel served as student representatives on the jubilee committee at that time.

"I don't think we sold (the students) out," Vogel said.

He said both he and Goetz were not sure until President Gilbert Fite brought the transfer up at a Board of Governors of State Colleges and Universities meeting that the money would definitely be transferred.

Vogel said, however, "I admit we goofed there."

He said that he should probably have appeared before the Student Senate to tell the senate of the fund's status.

Davenport also said that the liberal elements on campus think Davenport, as a conservative, will seek either the Student Body Presidency or Vice Presidency next February, but he flatly denied an election bid Thursday.

Pubs foresee 'no problem'

By Dann Gire

For the most part, tavern owners in Charleston do not anticipate any problems when the 19-year-old liquor law goes into effect Monday.

The law, passed this summer, enables 19 and 20 year-olds to drink beer and wine, but not "hard liquor".

Fred Wolfe, who runs the Charleston East Side Package Liquor Store and Gateway Liquor Store, said he would have to institute "more screening" when selling alcoholic beverages.

Wolfe said the drinking law would require "checking ages more carefully and watching what they (customers) have in their hands" to make sure those under 21 don't buy hard liquor.

"This is a whole new ballgame," said Wolfe. He explained that it would be difficult for employees to adjust to discerning 17-18 year-olds from 19 and above than the current above or below 21.

Chink Barbatti, owner of Chink and Kate's, said he "hadn't really thought about" the effect the Oct. 1 law would have on his business.

"I guess we'll cope with it as best we can," said Barbatti. "We're willing to do whatever the mayor sets up."

Barbatti stated that the mayor had not contacted him about any meeting to discuss the new law.

Barbatti said there would probably be little change in the procedure of the tavern if no guidelines are set down. He said all ages would be checked before serving.

Dan Craig of Rendezvous is looking forward to Monday with enthusiasm.

"We have a policy here to give a free drink to everyone on their 21st birthday," said Craig. "But everyone's turning 21 on Monday and we can't possibly give everyone a free drink, so we're doing the next best thing."

Craig said Rendezvous will sell beer for 10 cents a glass Monday "so everyone can celebrate together."

Craig said that he anticipated "no problems at all."

"We usually carded fairly tight at the door before," said Craig. "Anyone who we carded because they were 19 or 21 we will welcome back with open arms."

Craig thought the state law "only went half-way."

"They should have lowered the age to 18 and let everyone drink whatever kinds of drinks they wanted," he stated.

Wife of Club 17 owner, Dortha Hasbargen said that not many college students come to their tavern.

She didn't predict any problems for Club 17 with the influx of new drinkers.

Bob Hickman

"We will stick to carding people when we serve them," she said, "unless the mayor or police chief say otherwise." (See BEER, page 13)

Cox post resignation speculated; pleads guilty to fraud charges

By Rick Popely

Speculation about State Rep. William D. Cox's future as a legislator continued Thursday as the Charleston Republican again declined to say if he will resign his office.

Cox pleaded guilty Wednesday to charges of mail fraud and filing a false income tax return in 1971 in a federal district court in Springfield.

Reached at his Charleston home, Cox said, "My answer will have to be the same one I've given to everyone else. On advice of my legal counsel I have no comment to make."

U.S. Atty. Donald MacKay, who prosecuted the case, said that Judge Harlington Wood Jr. assigned the case to a probation officer Wednesday for a pre-sentencing investigation.

"The probation officer will report to the judge when the investigation is completed and a date will be set for sentencing. My guess is that it will take 40 to 45 days, maybe sooner," MacKay said.

Cox could be sentenced to a maximum of eight years in jail and fined up to $15,000 for the two charges to which he pleaded guilty.

MacKay said that neither his office nor the probation office will recommend a sentence. The decision will be entirely up to Wood, he said.

MacKay said that he will recommend that 16 other charges of tax evasion and mail fraud against Cox be dropped at the time of the sentencing. Cox's 18-count indictment stemmed from charges that he used state money to pay a Charleston woman for secretarial work and later was given back most of the money.

The woman, Pauline Monier, was not indicted with Cox because of her cooperation with the U.S. attorney's office, MacKay said.

If Cox doesn't resign he could possibly be removed from office, an assistant to House Speaker Robert Blair said Thursday.

The Illinois Constitution prohibits persons convicted of felonies from holding elected state office.

The charges Cox pleaded guilty to are felonies.

Charles Evans of the State Attorney general's office in Springfield declined to give an opinion on Cox's status once he is sentenced.

"This is a matter that is still in the courts and we don't want to comment on it. Several legal questions have been asked about the case but we haven't put out anything on this yet," Evans said.

Jim Edgar, executive assistant to Blair, said Wednesday that action against Cox would have to be started in the House and Cox would be tried by the Senate.

Edgar and spokesmen for Blair have said that it is doubtful that the House would take action against Cox. Blair was not available for comment.

Edgar, a former president of Eastern's student body, has indicated that he will seek Cox's seat if the incumbent resigns. If Cox finishes his present term the state Constitution would bar him from seeking reelection in 1974.

Cox was elected to the General Assembly from the 53rd district in 1966 and became majority whip in 1971.

Northeastern enrollees increased for fall term

Editors note: This is the third part in a News series dealing with Illinois university enrollments. In the series, the News conducted a telephone survey of state university admissions directors to find out why some state schools have experienced increases in enrollment and why others have incurred sizeable declines.

By Craig Sanders

A substantial increase in the enrollment for fall semester is the story at Northeastern Illinois University in Chicago, Erich Moch, director of admissions, said Wednesday.

Northeastern is a commuter college located in Chicago. It has three colleges, the college of education, the college of Arts and Science, and the Graduate School.

Figures released by Moch show that enrollment is up to around 9,100, an increase of between 800 to 1,000 students, Moch said.

Moch said his figures were not final. Last year Northeastern had an enrollment of 8,200, he said.

Northeastern thus joins Western Illinois University in the category of schools showing an enrollment increase. Other schools such as Northern Illinois University and Illinois State along with Eastern have shown decreases in enrollment.

Attributing Northeastern's increase to economic factors, Moch said it was the belief of Northeastern officials that more students in the Chicago area are staying home and going to a commuter college such as Northeastern or are commuting to a regular four-year college within commuting distance of their home.

Northeastern had a unique problem in that it had to limit admissions this year because of lack of space, Moch commented. "We could have admitted several more students," he said,

"but we just didn't have the space.

Discussing the possibilities for enrollment expansion, Moch remarked that he felt the university could expand and increase its enrollment but doubted that it would.

"We opened two new buildings last year," he said, "but there are no current plans for expansion.

Moch said that at Northeastern does recruit but does not do so outside of the Chicago area.

"Much of our recruiting is geared towards minority groups," Moch said. "We don't have to recruit too much because our location is in a large metropolitan area."

Turning to the problems that other schools are having with enrollment, Moch said he felt that many of the traditional four-year colleges had been caught in an economic crunch.

"Students are looking for a college closer to home," he said, "and as a result they are not attending the four-year colleges."

Moch also listed the fact that there are less students going to college and more students going to vocational schools.

Boycott committee plans picketing of convocation

By Craig Sanders

Plans for picketing the Diamond Jubilee Convocation were announced Thursday by the Committee Against the Diamond Jubilee.

Committee chairperson Bridgit Graham said the group plans to picket the opening luncheon in the union and the speech by Governor Walker later Sunday.

Graham said that all activities will be peaceful and that the group had learned from Dean of Student Personnel Services Kenneth Kerr that they could picket so long as they did not disrupt activities at the union or the stadium.

Graham said that the committee currently has about 10 members. She estimated that 30 people will take part in the picketing of the convocation activities.

"Our main thrust will be that student did not have a voice in the Diamond Jubilee funding," Graham said.

"We are an expressive interest group and we want to arouse student interest to prevent things like this from happening in the future," she stated.

Graham said the committee cannot release any information about any specific actions that it will take in the future but she added that the group intends to be active.

She invited any interested students to call her at 581-2938 if they wish to take part in Sunday's activities or if they want to join the committee.

"We have discussed the possibility of becoming a recognized campus activity," she said.

"We have been planning for this since mid-summer," Graham added.

Tell The Truth And Don't Be Afraid

Carman was long-term plan

By Kathy Abell

Have you ever wondered what that 10-story massive-structured thing called Carman Hall is doing sitting out there in the middle of nowhere?

University officials say it was part of a long-term plan designed to accommodate the rapidly expanding university enrollment that began in the mid-'60s.

Construction of Carman Hall was begun in January 1968, as a result of a continuous enrollment increase since 1966, said Glenn Williams, vice-president of student affairs in a recent interview.

From 1966 until 1970 Eastern's enrollment continued to increase by about 700 students each year, as indicated from enrollment reports received from Williams' office.

Not enough space

"We just didn't have enough space to accommodate everyone," said Quincy Doudna, president emeritus.

"We received pressure every fall from parents and students to provide more space," he added.

Williams cited an example of three girls who lived in a coal bin.

"There were no windows, and they had to sleep on cots," he explained.

Only available land

Carman Hall was planned and designed to be built where it now stands on 9th Street.

"That was the only available land that the state of Illinois owned here at that time," said

Martin Schaefer, vice-president of administrative affairs.

The original intention of this long-term planning, explained Schaefer, was to build more residence halls in the Carman Hall area.

Included in the plan, added Schaefer, was the blueprinting of the vicinity of the former Teke House, 2103 12th St., as "Greek Row."

Additional married student housing complexes were also planned.

Schaefer pointed out that another dormitory had been outlined in the long-term planning to provide more accommodations.

The new dormitory would have been similar to apartments, or the suites in Stevenson Hall.

Enrollment curtailed

The curtail on enrollment, however, killed this project, said Schaefer.

At that time, explained Dean of Housing Don Kluge, it was required that anyone under 21 years of age live in a dorm or in approved housing.

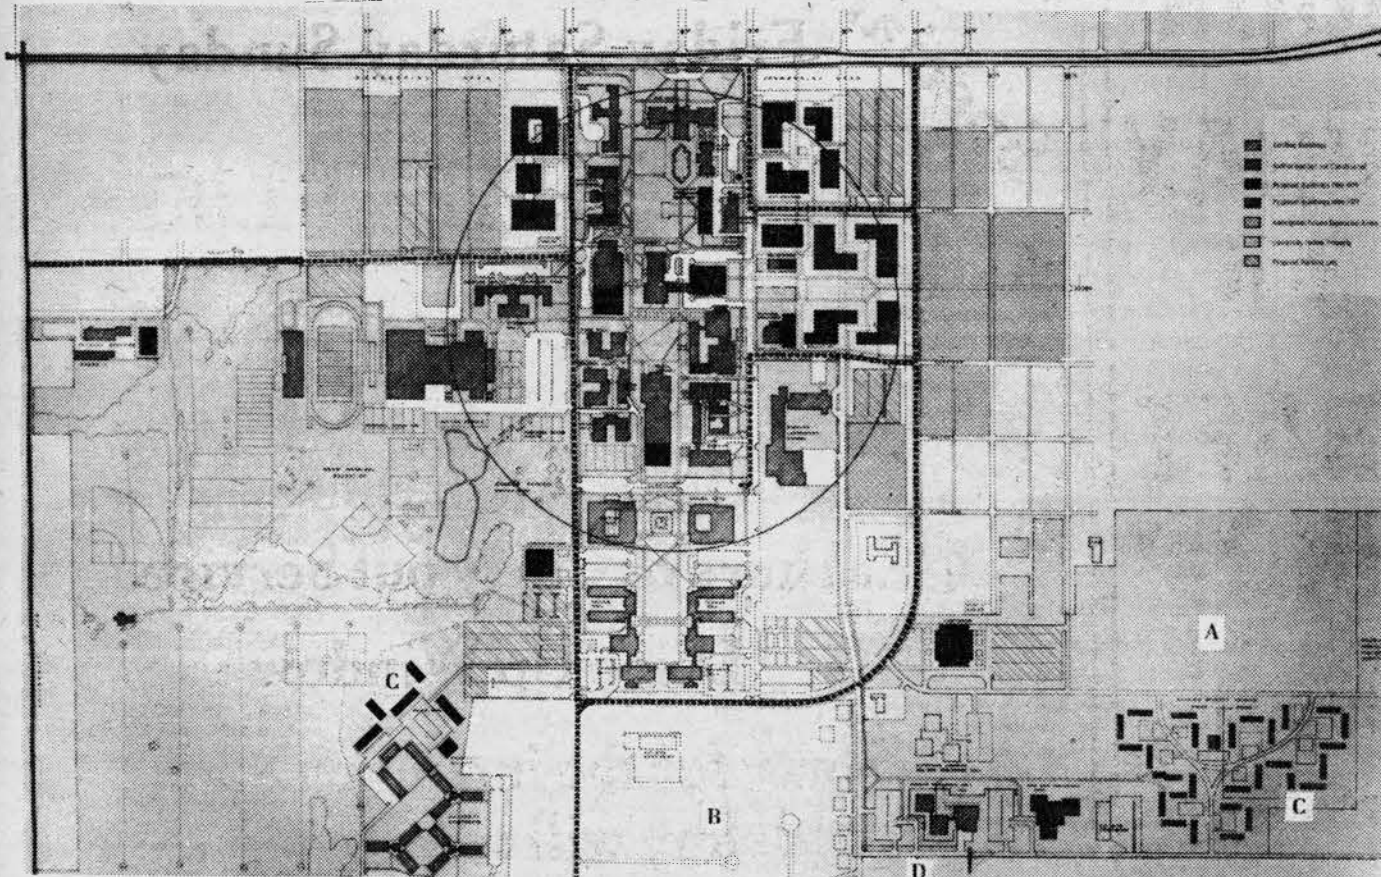

Doudna explained that another factor was that Eastern received a ceiling on its enrollment in two parts.

First, the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) put a ceiling on the freshman and sophomore growth, said Doudna.

"We could have lived with that cutoff in enrollment, as far as residence hall accommodations, if we hadn't received the second ceiling," he said.

IBHE issued second check

Under the long-term planning more living accommodations were blueprinted for Eastern students: A) "Greek Row", B) more residence halls, C) two additional married student housing complexes and D) the present Andrews Hall area.

Recovering the water

Trust is an important element in life.

It's the backbone of any honest relationship. Especially when a large group of people elect an official, they trust that official to represent their interests and to feed back information from the body he was elected to.

But sometimes that trust is betrayed.

We have seen it every day lately in national political life, no one has to be reminded of the endless Watergate saga or even closer to home, good old "Bill" Cox's plight.

And now apparently, a similar situation has occurred on campus.

Student Body President Don Vogel said that he and former president Mike Goetz knew that the Diamond Jubilee money would probably be transferred from the Lakeside Campus Fund as early as last winter. But the student body never heard of the possibility until too late.

Vogel was then head of the University Board, a position of campus leadership.

And surely Goetz, as the student body leader, should have informed the student body that the transfer possibility did exist.

Maybe they thought student apathy would shine again.

But as the Committee to Boycott the Diamond Jubilee has shown, someone does care.

For this reason we support the boycott in its efforts—we hope it insures that actions of this nature don't occur again.

We agree with Financial Vice President Stan Harvey—while we don't necessarily agree with how the fund was handled, it is "water under the bridge" at this stage.

The boycott will serve to prove that students do care—that they have an interest to express, but it's all for naught if it isn't recognized by the people in Old Main.

We think that the Diamond Jubilee has excellent educational and cultural programs to offer, we also feel that it's just too bad that the money for the extravaganza had to be handled in the manner it was.

Maybe students weren't sold out—it could just be they were out-sold.

Give up the quarters

What happens when you put your quarter in a pinball machine?

Clink, clank, ding, dong and it's gone.

What happens when you give Ike a quarter for a beer?

Ike gets richer. But besides that?

Slurp, slurp, gulp, burp and it's gone.

What happens when you give a quarter to a United Fund Volunteer?

You have helped: someone with cerebral palsy; enable a blind child in Charleston to hear a recording from the Christian Record Braille Foundation, make the Salvation Army's job a little easier; the American Red Cross provide blood to an accident victim a hundred miles away; ease a soldier's loneliness through the USO.

You will help the Charleston Civic Association; hundreds of young children through such organizations as the Lincoln Trail Boy Scouts Council; the Charleston Community Athletic Association; the Coles County 4-H Clubs.

And you have helped all those less fortunate than yourself through the services of the Coles County Mental Health Association and the Parents Group for Mentally Retarded Children.

The Coles County United Way fund drive gets underway October 1, with the county goal being $30,000.

Roger Foxhall, area campaign chairman said he hopes they can reach a goal of $7,800 for Eastern.

That's not asking too much, after all if each student were to donate just fifty cents that would be over half the goal.

So what's one game on the pins and one beer less going to do? A lot, if that 50 cents goes the United Way.

Now we know you were thinking about contributing, but it's not the thought that counts—it's the gift in front of it.

Find out your no-no's straight from the book

A few weeks ago I tried to scrape away a few of the cobwebs from Charleston's answer to Hammurabi, the Charleston City Code. After wheezing through a few more musty pages, I've come up with another batch of some of the more brilliant dictums laid down by the founding fathers of our humble, God-fearin' village.

"8-1-44: VENEREAL DISEASES; LITERATURE CONCERNING: No person shall... (Distribute, in any way, shape or form)... material purporting to treat diseases known as 'Venereal Diseases' describing or explaining the genital organs, giving the nature and remedies (or prevention of) diseases peculiar to females, or the nature or causes of nervous debility, impotency, sterility or barrenness, gonorrhea, gleet, stricture, syphilis, infection of the prostate gland or the remedies thereof, or the cause or remedies for abortion or miscarriage, or articles or means of preventing conception."

All I know is, almost everyone in the Health Service is just begging for 10 to 20 on this one. Pamphlets all over the place.

And you're all probably dying to know what gleet is, but damned if I want to start writing this column from the City Jail. You'll have to look it up yourself.

"9-3-24 UNATTENDED ANIMALS: It shall be unlawful to leave any horse or draft animal unattended in any street without having such animal securely fastened." We'll have to warn John Wayne about that if he ever comes to town.

"9-3-27 RIDING ON RUNNING BOARDS: It shall be unlawful for any person to ride upon the fenders, running board or outside step of any vehicle." O.K. all you Pikes, 'fess up. I saw about a thousand dollars in fines hanging off your fire engine about a week ago. Tsk. Tsk.

"8-1-5 BIRDS; INJURY TO: It shall be unlawful to kill or wound, or attempt to kill or wound, by use of firearm, slingshot, bow and arrow or otherwise, any bird other than English sparrows, or to take the eggs of any young bird."

What have you got against English sparrows? They're cute, and they don't make half as much doo-doo as pigeons and starlings. I think all the English sparrows in town ought to get together and fly over the court house to pay their respects. Meager though they might be, there's strength in numbers.

There's strength in the City Code, too, as you can see. Go on downtown and browse through it sometime, and find out all the no-no's you've been getting away with. But when you go, be sure to tie your horse securely, and don't spit on the sidewalk, and don't use vulgar language, and don't post any bills on hitching posts, and...

Letters to the editor

Colbert criticizes hospital article

To the editor:

Your Thursday Sept. 27 article on the new Sarah Bush Lincoln Hospital contains a few glaring errors.

Sarah Bush Lincoln is a private hospital. To say that it will replace Mattoon's public hospital in a merger with Charleston's public hospital is to assume that the assets of Mattoon's hospital will be transferred to Sarah Bush Lincoln.

As of now, this transfer of assets will be voted on in a Mattoon referendum; and opposition to the transfer mounts daily for a number of reasons.

Secondly, your article says that nothing comes from the taxpayers' pockets. The assets of the Mattoon public hospital have been estimated at $5,000,000. At nine per cent per annum in an Indianapolis bank this comes to $450,000 a year that comes out of the pockets of Mattoon alone.

Sarah Bush Lincoln will almost certainly offer abortion, which along with radiology is a medical moneymaker. What Mattoon voters do not understand is why, with radiology and abortion both flourishing, Sarah Bush Lincoln needs our $5,000,000.

Readers support sports column

To the editor:

As "typical females" we have something to say regarding Ms. Byer's criticism of "Girl's Eye View."

First of all, everyone has the freedom to make comment and constructive criticism on any issue. But after reading over this particular article one is left with the impression that literary mudslinging has been perpetrated.

To evaluate the worth of Ms. Robinson's column is one thing, but to personally insult her efforts and ability is quite another.

Byer's letter is in very poor taste and is clearly an affront to the girl who wrote the article and to those of us who must read the editorial page.

'Images in Ebony' biting performance

By Terri Castles

The stage lights go up and reveal seven beautiful black women. Clad in black leotards and black palazzo pants, these women are the cast of "Images in Ebony."

A montage of black poetry and prose, "Images in Ebony," was directed by Jack Rang and features Leslye Logan, Marcia Sanders, Yvette Jackson, Marvinetta Woodley, Helen Longstreet, Valorie Head and Shirley Warren.

"Images in Ebony" destroys white myths about inferior black minds since the literature read was of the most sensitive and thought-provoking I have ever heard.

Maybe it was the beautiful manner in which it was executed or the uniqueness and newness of the literature that inspired me. I can't say which it was because both were great.

I must confess though, that I have never heard any of the material presented in English 1001 or 1002. And that makes it refreshing.

The highlight of this production was the conversation between W.E.B. DuBois and Booker T. Washington. Unless you are black or have had black history, you may not know who these men were, but their conversation sounds like the voice of the present arguing with the voice of the past.

News review

Other great moments included excerpts from Malcolm X's autobiography and Langston Hughes' "Tales of Simple".

Although all members of the cast were quite good, Helen Longstreet was outstanding. Her ability to move the audience is rare and magnificent.

"Images in Ebony" is a biting and basic production that every white person should see.

The cast represents today's blacks and the problems facing them.

It is time for people to see the change from Hollywood's contented darkies to America's proud blacks. "Images in Ebony" represents this change.

"Images in Ebony" will be playing at the Fine Arts Theatre Friday through Sunday at 8 p.m. and there is no admission charge.

I encourage all students, faculty, administration and parents to view this fine black performance.

Rush sells the system

Being in the middle of formal rush, and being the rush chairman for my own sorority, I can hardly think of much else right now. I wanted to find a good definition or explanation of rush, so I checked my rush manual and found the following:

Rush is the most important program of every collegiate chapter of a fraternity or sorority. The importance of this program must be fully realized and appreciated by every member, for the present and future strength of each house is determined by the number and quantity of its members.

Each house must strive to keep its membership at maximum strength at all times because the efficiency of all operations and the quality of all other programs within the organization depend upon the number and quality of all participating members: and in turn the efficiency of the operations and the quality of all programs will determine the degree of benefits and the amount of satisfaction that will be derived by individual members.

Fundamentally, rushing is selling and the product that is being sold by each house is each house.

When we are selling our house, we are selling the Greek system—we are selling our own houses, we are selling friendship and we are selling brotherhood and sisterhood.

I think this explanation of rush fits in with what the rush

It's Greek

To Me

By

Laurie

Smart

chairman of each house is trying to impart to her fellow members—pull together to make rush successful, particularly this rush.

This rush period is called formal rush: a specific period in which rush events are outlined and scheduled by Collegiate Panhellenic (Interfraternity Council for the men), and formal bids to pledge are issued only in writing and at a specified time.

Formal rush in the past has been between the end of October and Christmas vacation. Because of the change from quarters to semesters, formal rush is being held from Sept. 10 to Oct. 2. With rush being so, each house was forced to do some serious concentrated planning.

So far all the planning has proved to be successful.

There were 167 women at the "It's Greek To Me" program while there were only 80 women there last year. 250 women went through the formal teas Sept. 9 and 10. Hopefully when formal rush is over on Oct. 2 the outcome will be a success.

Monkey business on the screen

When the atomic bombs
Have extinguished all of man,
Will the apes that began it all,
Start the whole thing again?

The year is 2670 A.D. The earth has been destroyed by atomic bombs, caused by the rebellion of intelligent apes liberating themselves from enslavement.

Once again, monkeys have the upper hand in shaping the future of man.

The story of the apes is told in the fifth and final movie in the "Ape" series, in "Battle for the Planet of the Apes." This adventure, the conflict between the apes and man is finally resolved.

The story opens with an old ape giving an (all too brief) description of the events leading up to the present conditions. Unless you've seen a few of the other films in the series, you may become lost at this point.

The apes are living in a tranquil paradise. Their leader is an ape named Caesar (Roddy McDowall).

Caesar is told that a nearby ruined city has a tape of an interview with his parents. Having no memory of his parents who were killed shortly after he was born, he wants the tapes.

The Movies

By Debbie
Divis

Supposedly his parents possessed the gift of prophecy. Caesar felt the tapes could provide some insight into the future of the apes.

Aided by an orangutan named Virgel (singer-composer Paul Williams), and a human friend, Caesar finds the tapes. In them his mother makes the prediction that eventually apes will bring destruction to the world.

While in the city, the trio discover that there are still some humans around—bizarrely scarred and sickly—but alive.

The human survivors in the city are led by Kelp. Kelp (John Huston) was a supervisor in charge of controlling enslaved apes (note how the tables have turned).

Kelp leads an attack on the ape city; simultaneously, disharmony breaks out in the ape family as the gorillas begin an uprising.

One of the gorillas violates the chief law of the land: "Ape shall not kill another ape" as he murders Caesar's son.

Caesar pursues his son's killer, and murders him. All of a sudden, the apes had become "human." Until then, no ape had ever murdered another ape.

The apes had to live with the humans, with differences between them suddenly diminished, leaving the apes at the same level as the humans.

As a series, the "Planet of the Apes" films have proven themselves successful entertainment-wise, as well as financially.

As individual films, they could easily lose the viewer and come off as a monkey cowboy-and-indian movie. The movie has the same bad-guy-versus-good-guy problem that infects John Wayne movies; half the time the bad guy really outclasses the good guy—and deserves to win.

If you're a science fiction fan, the movie may well prove enjoyable. If you're not, just sit back and count your blessings that it will be the last of the "monkey business."

Carman

on the junior, senior and graduate student enrollment. "We had no notion that this would happen," Doudna said. Doudna cites the enrollment ceiling and the large number of apartment buildings near campus as the two primary factors contributing to the problems that have arisen concerning the hall.

"By the time the ceiling on enrollment was made, we were too far along with the dormitory to stop the construction," said Doudna.

Higher enrollment ceiling
"If the IBHE could have given us a higher enrollment ceiling and let us grow a few more years to 11,000 or 12,000, we would have been okay," he added.

"Or if we would have known two or three years earlier that there would be a ceiling on our enrollment, we could have planned to build a smaller hall or none at all," he said.

"In this instance, hindsight was better than foresight," concluded Williams. Doudna and Schaefer drew similar conclusions in separate News interviews.

Williams stated that Carman, or any hall, could possibly be auctioned off or sold if a buyer was interested.

"The title belongs to the state of Illinois, contingent upon paying the bonds," said Schaefer.

"None of the halls are paid off," said Kluge. Kluge said that the University of Illinois has turned its extra dorms into administrative and class buildings.

Last year, university officials had considered doing this with Pemberton, said Williams. However, this brought negative reaction from the Pemites.

In 'near future'*Fite to dicuss water rates

By Dann Gire

A meeting between President Fite and the city commissioners is being planned sometime in the near future to discuss changes in Eastern's water rates.

A meeting originally planned for Oct. 3 in the president's conference room may be postponed, said sources from Fite's office.

"We're hoping to come to some kind of agreement on the water rate situation," said Hickman. "If everything goes well, we'll try to go to the Board of Governors for a sloution which would be workable for both the government and the city."

The current controversy arose when Mayor Hickman announced he would seek an increase in Eastern's water rate to coincide with the city's.

The two also discussed the "university against the city" atmosphere which is present on the political scene in Charleston, said Hickman.

Hickman said "I believe the rapport (between the city and univeristy) is now better than I've seen since I've been here."

Hickman moved to Charleston six years ago.

Concert this weekend

Appearing in concert, Saturday, in Lantz Gym for Parents Weekend will be Henry Mancini at 7 and 9:30 p.m.

The concert, which is sponsored by University Board, is the first concert scheduled for this year.

Mancini, perhaps a legend in his own time, has a long list of accomplishments in the music field.

He has been up for nomination for an Oscar 13 times and has won the honor three times. He has also won 20 Grammys, six gold albums and the Hollywood Foreign Press Association's Golden Globe.

Mancini will perform mostly his own material from movie soundtracks, television series' themes and hit singles.

Four-dollar-reserved and $3 balcony tickets are now on sale at the Union Box Office and will also be sold at the door.

UB to offer concerts, opening with Mancini

By John Frantz

This year the University Board will kick off its concert season with Henry Mancini during Parents' Weekend.

Also appearing in concerts this semester will be Mac Davis, Bonnie Koloc, America and the Beach Boys, Bill Clark, director of student activities said Wednesday.

Mac Davis will appear for the Homecoming concert on Oct. 26 at 8 p.m.

Davis has been a composer since the late fifties and has only been a performer since his hit single, "Baby, Don't Get Hooked on Me", was number one for three months on the Top Forty Charts.

The warm-up preformer for the concert will be Bonnie Koloc, a folk-rock singer who rose to fame in the Chicago-land area.

Tickets for the concert will go on sale at the Union Box Office on Oct. 12 for $2.50 and $3.

The concert will cost University Board $6,500-$5,000 for Davis and $1,500 for Bonnie Koloc.

Appearing on Nov. 12 will be the English rock group America.

The concert is scheduled for 8 p.m. and the warm-up performer has not been announced yet.

America, another Top Forty Chart topper rose to fame with their hit single, "A Horse With No Name" in 1972.

Tickets for the America concert will go on sale Oct. 30 for $3 and $4. America has been contracted for $10,000.

The last concert of the fall semester will be the Beach Boys who will appear on Dec. 6. The Beach Boys, one of the oldest American rock groups that is still active today, became a nationally known group in the early sixties with their long list of "surf" songs.

A warm-up group hasn't been announced yet for this concert.

The Beach Boys will receive $10,000 for their performance and tickets will be $3 and $4. Tickets will go on sale Nov. 24 at the Union Box Office.

Clark said that the concerts haven't been announced until now because of new trends in the rock industry.

"It has gotten increasingly harder to book major entertainment in advance, because groups are setting their tour dates up late," said Clark.

Special grand jury*Jury to probe Agnew

BALTIMORE - (AP) - A special federal grand jury opened an unprecedented investigation Thursday, a political graft probe involving Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

At the same time, Agnew's lawyers planned to go to court to stop the inquiry.

One of the lawyers, Judah W. Miller, said in Washington that a motion would be filed, possibly as early as the first of next week, seeking a temporary injunction to halt the grand jury proceedings.

Such a move had been expected from the lawyers Thursday morning before the jury session started.

"We are going to file," Best said, adding he did not feel that Agnew's argument against the grand jury probe would be hurt by filing for an injunction after the investigation was under way.

Three witnesses appeared before the grand jury during the first hours of work, but only one of the witnesses could be identified.

He was William J. Muth, former vice president of the Baltimore City Council, now the office manager of an engineering consulting firm, Hurst-Rosche Engineers, Inc.

Muth has been an Agnew fund raiser.

Hasbargen said that student identification cards would not be honored, but driver's licenses would be acceptable.

Commenting on the stamp method of identifying wine and beer only drinkers from hard liquor drinkers, she said "a lot of older people won't like having their hands stamped." She thought that the situation would be better if people under 21 were stamped.

"Nineteen or 20-year-olds maybe," she said, "but not every customer."

Willis Fillman of Sporty's, like most other tavern employees and owners, was not sure of carding guidelines.

Fillman said he planned to see the mayor and authorities before the bar opens Oct. 1.

He said that the carding procedure "won't change that much."

"We'll just get a lot younger kids trying to get in," he observed.

Fillman said the proposed stamping system Mayor Bob Hickman recently recommended would be the best solution to distinguish people over 21 from those under.

Hickman said Thursday he was preparing a meeting of the local tavern owners scheduled tentatively for Sunday.

"I am hoping to get things organized and to draw up some plans before I announce the meeting for sure," said Hickman.

Pilot error caused Midway crash

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Chicago plane crash that killed a congressman and the wife of convicted Watergate defendant E. Howard Hunt was caused by pilot error - not by sabotage, the National Transportation Safety Board said Thursday.

Forty-three of the 61 passengers and crew members died when the United Air Lines jet crashed into a residential area near Chicago's Midway Airport.

Two other persons on the ground were killed in the crash and in the resulting fire. Five homes were destroyed.

Among those killed in the crash last Dec. 8 were Rep. George W. Collins, D-Ill., and CBS newswoman Michele Clark.

The safety board said the probable cause of the accident was "... the captain's failure to exercise positive flight management."

This resulted, the board concluded, in the plane losing its air speed and going into a stall on a landing attempt.

The board said it found no evidence of sabotage or foul play in connection with the crash.

Chicago legal researcher Sherman Skolnick had claimed the plane was sabotaged because he claimed, 12 of the passengers were directly linked with Watergate.

Harriers face Parkside

By Debbie Newman

Eastern's harriers travel to Wisconsin-Parkside Saturday to put their 3-0 record on the line. Action will get under way at 10:30 a.m.

Will the Panthers win another headstrong victory? There is every reason for optimism, after last week's double win over Illinois State and Northern Illinois.

Last week the Panthers showed superior team strength when they went on after losing two men (who were running third and fourth at the race's 4½ mile mark) due to disqualification to handily win both ends of the double dual. The disqualified runners had made a wrong turn due to a poorly marked course.

"Illinois State has the reputation for being one of the strongest teams in the state," said Coach Maynard (Pat) O'Brien. "When we beat them in spite of the absence of those two men, we knew we were tough."

Wisconsin-Parkside has a runner named Lucin Rosa who is noted to be one of the most outstanding marathon runners in the country.

Rosa usually manages to fight his way through the Panther pack to finish first, so Eastern will have to move swiftly to keep in the forefront here.

Wisconsin also has a runner named Dennis Viel, whom O'Brien says is a "very good runner."

"Outside of these two men, we have no idea of who will be running for Wisconsin-Parkside, or how tough they are going to be," said O'Brien.

The Panthers may have additional competition.

"There may be an independent team running up there too this Saturday," said the Coach. "But we just don't know."

The team seems to be in pretty good shape except for Mike Lehman, who fell and injured his knee at Southeast

Missouri, and Rich Bowman, who was hit in the chest at the Illinois State meet by a speeding golf ball.

"Mike Lehman did not go with us to Illinois State," explained O'Brien. "And he hasn't been to practice for about a week and a half now because of an injury he received to his knee down at Southeast Missouri."

"Rich Bowman... was bruised a little bit by the accident which occurred last Saturday," explained teammate Ron Lancaster, "but he will be running with the team at Parkside this weekend."

The Panthers are in hopes that history will repeat itself that is, that they will come home from their third away trip, as they have the past two weekends, with a victory.

Should beat Circle

"Circle is not that good. They are big and physical but they don't execute very well," commented Dean. "We scouted them and they don't look very impressive."

Circle does have a former Junior College All-American, Kevin Keag from Wright Junior College, playing for them.

Keag went to Weber State and then the University of Wisconsin-Platteville before ending up at Circle.

"Keag is a good quarterback. He just couldn't, for some reason, hack it at those other two schools."

Circle which has only 42 men on its team, is somewhat reverting back to the one platoon football of days gone by.

Go both ways

They have four guys who go both ways in spots. They don't however, go the whole game on offense and defense.

"Their two big offensive tackles come in on short yardage downs. That is about the only situation they will go both ways."

Circle's defense is almost non-existent. They gave up 40 points in their opening game loss to Grand Valley State and last year gave up over 30 points a game.

Eastern should get its first win of the year. Circle is a team of nothing but weaknesses to be exploited. The Panthers should have no trouble knocking them off.

Panthers to battle Chicago Circle

By Anthony Blackwell

The Panthers will battle the University of Illinois, Chicago Circle, in a Parents' Day contest Saturday in Lincoln Stadium at 2 p.m.

This year, the football Panthers of Coach Jack Dean will attempt to send the visiting parents home to the joyous beat of victory.

Last season, before a parent-student gathering of 7,500, the Panthers fell victim to the Panthers of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, 17-16.

Eastern, bringing an 0-3 mark into this week's match, has dropped their opening 3 battles to Wisconsin-Stevens Point, Indiana State, and Wisconsin-Milwaukee, due to inconsistent offense and defense.

Coach Dean feels his squad's 0-3 log doesn't really reflect the team's ability to play good football.

"We're a good squad, but we must learn to combine the mental and physical aspects of consistent ball," Dean said.

"Last Saturday against Wisconsin-Milwaukee, our offense moved very well during the first half but slowed during the last sessions of play. Our defensive unit played well, but committed some costly mistakes," commented.

The Panther offensive game against Chicago Circle will feature brilliant rushing of All-American tailback Nate Anderson.

Anderson, last week at Wisconsin-Milwaukee, broke the career rushing record of 1,526 yards by Ken Warner in 1971.

Anderson, a native of East St. Louis, churned out 134 total yards and carries to give him a total of 1,540 yards, eclipsing the old record.

The Panthers will depend on fullback Lorne Hubick, a junior college transfer from Canada, for additional rushing support.

Hubick gained 60 yards in his attempts last week to provide a third down stop. (See PANTHERS, page 7)

Intramural games, swimming

Parents may use Lantz

By Jim Lynch

No special provisions have been made for parents to use the recreational facilities of Lantz Building over Parents Weekend but there would be no objection if any of them wish to do so William Riordan, director of intramurals Thursday.

"Because there is a home football game Saturday, Lantz will not be open, "However, there will be dormitory intramural football games at 9, 10, 11 a.m. Saturday morning that the parents can attend.

On Sunday, Lantz will be open at the normal hours. All facilities will be in use. If any parents wish to avail themselves of the swimming pool or any other of the facilities, they are welcome to do so. "I don't think many of them will bring their suits, though," Riordan said.

The Lantz Building is open Sunday from 3-5 p.m. for swimming and 3-9 p.m. for all activities.

What's up this weekend?

Parents will be entertained this weekend when they step foot on Eastern's campus.

Many activities have been planned for the 1973 Parents' Weekend in hopes that mom and dad will get to know more about the university and their son or daughter attends.

Festivities begin on Saturday with a parents' reception and student organizations exhibit from 9 to 11 a.m. in the Lantz Building.

At 1:30 p.m. on Lincoln Field, Eastern's football team faces U. of I.-Chicago Circle.

A candlelight buffet will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. in the Union Ballroom. Saturday's activities will be concluded by the Henry Mancini concert at 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Lantz.

The opening ceremonies of the Diamond Jubilee will begin on Sunday with the convocation luncheon at 12 noon in the Union Ballroom.

Governor Daniel Walker will be the featured speaker at the 75th Diamond Jubilee opening convocation. The program begins at 2:15 p.m., Lincoln Field and will also include the awarding of the distinguished Alumni Awards.

Mancini to entertain during weekend

By Terri Castles

For those still wishing to purchase tickets for the Henry Mancini concert September 29, they will be available at the Parents' Coffee Hour on the concourse of Lantz Gymnasium and at the door Saturday night, Anita Behrends, chairman of the University Board, said Tuesday.

The Parents' Coffee Hour will be held Saturday morning from 9 to 11 a.m.

The tickets are $4 for reserved seats and $3 for balcony seats, but Behrends doubted if any floor seats will be available at the door.

The tickets for the 7 p.m. show are yellow for floor seats, pink for reserved west bleachers, blue for reserved east bleachers and white for all balcony seats.

For the 9:30 p.m. show, tickets are buff for floor seats, white for reserve west bleachers, apricot for reserve east bleachers and green for all balcony seats, Jo Anne Gossett of the Union ticket office said.

Behrends suggested that those attending the concert enter Lantz Gym through the doors closest to their seats so there will be less confusion for the ushers and the audience. All of Lantz's doors will be open.

Behrends also felt that parking may be a problem and said that if students live close to campus, it would be advisable for the parents to park there and walk. If not, there will be parking in the lots to the east and north of Lantz and on 4th and Grant Streets.

Parents are warned not to park in the fire lanes though since the security police have begun towing cars away.

The doors will be opened at 6 p.m. for the 7 p.m. show but Behrends was unable to say when they would open for the 9:30 p.m. show since it is hard to say how long it will take the 7 p.m. crowd to leave the gym.

It is advisable, Behrends said, to come as soon as possible if holding a balcony seat because they are not reserved.

the Wisconsin-Milwaukee defensive alignment.

Dean feels quarterback Steve Hagenbruch must beef up the passing attack by sending more passes to flanker Willie White, split-end Greg Brown and the entire passing corps.

Dean said that flanker George Slack, of East St. Louis would see some action during the Circle game.

Dean believes the Panther kicking game must be accurate on kick-offs and field goals, to keep the opposition off balance.

"Last week against Wisconsin, our punter, Rick Tsupros missed one field goal and kicked a punt only 10 yards into the air. The latter miscue gave our opponents excellent field position and they scored," Dean said.

"It does not matter who we are competing against, we want to win," Dean explained. "However, I believe all the Eastern players will give just a little extra because they want to win not only for their benefit, but for the entire school, Dean emphasized.

Parents' Weekend is here again!

Parents are urged to attend the coffee hour, student and organization exhibit, football game, Henry Mancini concert and the opening of Eastern's Diamond Jubilee celebration.

Many plans have been made to make this one of the most enjoyable weekends on campus. Parents should take time to see what's going on in the academic world and social life of their son or daughter.

Take a look around the campus and have a good time during Parents' Weekend.
